NACSO Disclosure

NACSO Non-Profit Business League, Inc. (NACSO) is a non-profit industry association of credit repair organizations. The mission of NACSO is to establish standards of excellence for the credit repair industry. Member credit repair organizations have pledged a commitment to adhere to the NACSO standards of excellence, the Credit Repair Organizations Act \(CROA\), and any and all licensing and/or bonding requirements related to the performance of credit repair services in their respective states. NACSO also performs testing and CROA compliance certification as a condition for membership.

However, NACSO makes no representations, guarantees or warranties as to the compliance with local, state, or Federal laws, legal ability, competence, quality of representation, or services provided by any NACSO members, or any other credit repair organizations. NACSO disclaims all responsibility for any loss of any kind resulting in any way from any reliance upon NACSO membership, and/or errors or omissions of any kind by any NACSO member or any other credit repair organization for any products/services provided by such parties.

Further, NACSO does not vouch for, endorse, or make any representations, positive or negative, about the individuals, businesses, credit repair organizations, or any NACSO members. The hiring of a credit repair organization is an important decision that should not be based solely upon an organization's membership with NACSO. Before you decide to engage for services, ask any credit repair organization you are considering to send you free written information about their qualifications and experience.
